(Case called; all parties present)

THE COURT: We have received a number of letters, A huge numbers of attachments things aren't going so well again. But the years go by; some years are better years and some years, worse years. This one is bad.

The March 3 letter, which is the plaintiffs' preconference letter had five attachments, some longer than others.

The defendants' preconference letter of March 11 had I think 13 attachments, and that really is a lot and kind of defeats the purpose of a page limitation. We have to talk about that again.

The plaintiffs' reply letter is March 14. It had two attachments.

The defendant's reply letter of March 14 has eight. So, all around, the defendants are up to 20 different attachments. We should have a little chat about how to do that.

The plaintiffs have three agenda items, and the defendants have six agenda items. Of the plaintiffs' three agenda items, the first one is moot. That had to do with the Tauber pending motion to dismiss. The plaintiffs' opposition was due and came in. I saw it in today's mail. So there is nothing to discuss with respect to agenda item one, agreed?

MR. AXLINE: Agreed, your Honor.

E3j2mtbc1

1 THE COURT: So that takes us to plaintiffs' agenda
2 item two, which is what plaintiffs describe as defendants'
3 excessive and duplicative expert designations in the Puerto
4 Rico case. I need to understand how many of the alleged 75
5 expert witnesses are in play here? Is it really 75, if you
6 include 26(a)(2)(B) and 26(a)(2)(C)? There were two different
7 groups totaling 75?

8 MR. MILLER: Yes, your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Mr. Miller, yes. Because the defendants
10 come back and talk about having only 35, and I think that's 11 maybe Ms. Gerson is the one who is on the line for saying 35.
12 Were you limiting it yourself to (a)(2)(B) when you said there
13 were only 35.

14 MS. GERSON: We were talking plaintiffs grouped 15 together retained experts and 26(a)(2)(C) experts, although 16 their letter only appeared to be complaining about (a)(2)(C)
17 witnesses.

18 THE COURT: What is the number of each.

19 MS. GERSON: It actually breaks down exactly 35 of 20 each.

21 THE COURT: Oh, exactly 35 of each.

22 MS. GERSON: So focusing on the (a)(2)(C) witnesses, I
23 think we point out in our letter --

24 THE COURT: Let me understand what the plaintiffs'
25 complaint is. I want to make sure I understood the numbers.

E3j2mtbc1

1 It is 35 of one kind and 35 of another kind. That happens to 2 be 70, not -- is that what the complaint was, that there was
3 75? Already we seem to have gone down by five, which is good
4 news. Did we reduce it by five? Because the complaint was 75.
5 Now you are telling me there are 70, which sounds ridiculous
6 anyway. But are there 75 or 70.

7 MR. MILLER: I think your Honor is right that it is 8 70.

9 THE COURT: So you are complaining about 70, not 75.
10 Small progress, but I assume you think 70 is still way out of 11 line. Whether it is the retained kind or the inside kind, it
12 is still a problem.

13 MR. MILLER: It is, your Honor.

14 THE COURT: And you are complaining about both groups.

15 MR. MILLER: Yes. But we met and conferred, and I
16 think that we can make substantial progress in dealing with the 17 35 current and former employees testifying as experts through a 18 meet-and-confer process. I told counsel what I thought my 19 solution was because part of what we are concerned with is 20 duplication. Part of what we are concerned with is taking 35
21 additional depositions.

22 THE COURT: Right. No, it's horrible.

23 MR. MILLER: And I think that we can probably at a
24 minimum cut the number of depositions of the 35 down
25 substantially.

E3j2mtbc1

1 THE COURT: The (a)(2)(C) ones.

2 MR. MILLER: That's correct.

3 THE COURT: But the retained ones, (a)(2)(B) ones, I
4 don't know whether we are calling them retained or just 5 (a)(2)(B), whichever is clear for the record. One second.
6 Give me a minute to have the rule in front of me, because 7 either way there has to be a submission. And you also are 8 complaining about the inadequacy of the submissions, and we 9 will get to that in a minute, too. It will be convenient to 10 have the rule open.

11 MR. MILLER: My suggestion, your Honor --

12 THE COURT: Wait, no; no suggestions until I get the 13 rule open is what I said.

14 Okay, so the (a)(2)(C)'s are the ones you think you 15 can negotiate about?

16 MR. MILLER: Yes.

17 THE COURT: You realize, of course, that they still 18 have to disclose the subject matter in which the witness is 19 expected to present evidence under rules of evidence 702(3) and 20 (5), and the summary of facts and opinions to which that 21 witness will testify. So they are not just fact witnesses, as 22 I understand it, who happen to be on the payroll. They are 23 being offered also as experts who do not have to provide a 24 report.

25 MR. MILLER: That's correct.

E3j2mtbc1

1 THE COURT: Then they have to do these other things.
2 Have they done these other two things? Have they designated
3 the subject matter and summary and facts upon which they plan
4 to testify?

5 MR. MILLER: They have written a paragraph and they 6 say things like the witness will cover industry practices,
7 without specifying them, which is a pretty broad category, in 8 my mind.

9 THE COURT: I can help you out. I don't find that 10 satisfactory. The whole point of 26(a)(2)(C) was to relax the 11 written report requirement but to still require that if they 12 are going to give opinions, expert opinions under 702(3) or 13 (5), they have to do (ii), which is a summary of the facts and 14 opinions to which the witness is expected to testify. That 15 broad sentence won't do it. It would save time, it would help
16 me and everybody else figure out duplication. It might avoid 17 depositions if that were done right. So I think you should 18 make a separate two- or three-page submission for each of them
19 that complies with Rule 26(a)(2)(C).

20 MS. GERSON: Your Honor --

21 MR. MILLER: We do not have two or three pages --

22 THE COURT: I know you don't.

23 MR. MILLER: -- on anyone.

24 THE COURT: I know you don't, and I think you should.
25 So whether you ask for it or not, Mr. Miller, I want it. I

E3j2mtbc1

1 want a proper two- or three-page single-spaced summary for each
2 of these people, if they are going to give expert opinions. If 3 they are just going to talk about the facts of their job or 4 something, then they are like any other fact witness and 5 nothing is required. They are just going to be an everyday
6 percipient witness, like everybody else. But if they are going 7 to give opinions, that's why the rule is written as it is 8 written. You have a certain amount of time to produce a
9 statement from each them. And one of the excuses for having so
10 many people is that there are 14 defendants. So I am not
11 looking at you, Ms. Gerson, I don't think you have to write 35
12 of these, but there are 14 defendants. Each defendant is going 13 to have to talk to their, whatever it is, two or three --

14 MS. GERSON: Your Honor --

15 THE COURT: -- people in house -- I don't know how 16 else to call them -- employees, and get them to write up the 17 opinions on which they plan to give expert testimony and the 18 facts of which they expect to testify, etc., the facts and 19 opinions, a real statement that might take care of depositions
20 if they knew what they were going to say and would also help
21 them make arguments about being duplicative.

22 MS. GERSON: Your Honor, I think we understand that.
23 I do think we have invited plaintiffs to point out --

24 THE COURT: They don't need to do it. I'm not 25 satisfied with the description I heard in the one paragraph you

E3j2mtbc1

1 gave. That's not explicit enough. So if you want to test out
2 what is explicit enough and do one that's more detailed, send
3 it to Mr. Miller and the court, and see if there is an 4 objection, before you do 34 more of the same, that's fine. So
5 maybe you want to do one in the next three days, send it over
6 and say, Will this be satisfactory to you, Mr. Miller and to 7 you, the judge.

8 Mr. Riccardulli, you have been here long enough, if 9 you want to confer, the right way to do it is you say, your 10 Honor, may I have a moment? Otherwise I consider it rude.
11 Once you say, May I have a moment, I say, Sure, and I stop
12 talking.

13 MR. RICCARDULLI: I apologize, your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Any time you want to confer with anybody,
15 you say, May I have a moment please, and then go ahead and 16 confer. Given that, you do or don't?

17 MR. RICCARDULLI: I do, for five seconds.

18 MS. GERSON: Your Honor, we have a few examples I
19 think that defendants have done, some defendants have done more
20 than others.

21 THE COURT: This probably isn't the time. If you have 22 one that you think really is fuller and complies with 23 (a)(2)(C), send that one over to Mr. Miller, copy to the court, 24 I think, and say, Will this satisfy everybody? If it will,
25 then all the rest have to be brought up to that level. And

E3j2mtbc1

1 then if Mr. Miller wants to make an argument that it is
2 duplicative, overlapping, and there are still too many in that
3 group, I will at least have paper to be able to figure that 4 out. So let's not spend any more time on (a)(2)(C), because he
5 doesn't think it is worth it and I don't either. Can you give 6 the next examples over in the next day, since you think you
7 have one.

8 MS. GERSON: Yes, your Honor.

9 THE COURT: When you get that, Mr. Miller, if that 10 example is satisfactory to you, then the other 34 should be 11 due, all of them, no later than two weeks from today.

12 MR. MILLER: Yes, your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Two weeks from today would be April 2, all
14 35. But if that one isn't satisfactory and you can't resolve
15 it, since I will have a copy, we can get on the phone and I
16 will agree or disagree that it is satisfactory.

17 MR. MILLER: Thank you.

18 THE COURT: Because I'm going to ask Ms. Gerson to 19 copy me on what she sends you, so we can work it out if it is 20 not enough.

21 MR. MILLER: Yes, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: What about the other 35, the (a)(2)(B)
23 people? Where are we up to? Let me hear from Mr. Miller, see
24 what he is complaining about. So what about the (a)(2)(B)
25 people?

E3j2mtbc1

1 MR. MILLER: Your Honor, I would like to defer that as 2 well, because I view them, especially the duplication issue, as 3 overlapping.

4 THE COURT: Overlapping with the (a)(2)(C)?

5 MR. MILLER: Yes. Both -- several people.

6 THE COURT: Deferring is not something we really can 7 do. The whole point is that the discovery of these experts, as 8 I understand it, is supposed to end May 30. Is that the right
9 date?

10 MR. MILLER: Yes.

11 THE COURT: We can't defer. Today is March 19.
12 That's why these are being raised in the letters. You have 13 reports, real reports from each of the 35(a)(2)(B)'s?

14 MR. MILLER: We do not have reports from the ones that 15 are rendering site-specific reports. In most cases I think we 16 are owed more than 20 reports at this point.

17 THE COURT: So how many (a)(2)(B) reports do you have?
18 15?

19 MR. MILLER: They have served nine reports out of 35.
20 That, by my math, means we are owed 26.

21 THE COURT: Of the nine you have got, are they 22 sufficient?

23 MR. MILLER: Yes.

24 THE COURT: So you are not challenging the quality of 25 the reports, you are challenging the duplicativeness, overlap,

E3j2mtbc1

1 etc.

2 MR. MILLER: Not quality. There are some items that
3 are the subject of item three in our agenda.

4 THE COURT: Oh, irrelevant. That's different. But 5 the reports satisfy the rule.

6 MR. MILLER: Yes.

7 THE COURT: What you are left arguing about is whether 8 it is duplicative and whether it is irrelevant.

9 MR. MILLER: That's correct.

10 THE COURT: I got that.

11 Where are the other 26 reports, Ms. Gerson?

12 MS. GERSON: Your Honor, based on -- they are not 13 late. Based on the schedule, they are not due yet.

14 THE COURT: Because all 26 are site specific?

15 MS. GERSON: That's correct.

16 THE COURT: When are they due?

17 MS. GERSON: April 7.

18 THE COURT: Oh, and then we are going to be able to 19 complete all those depositions by May 30?

20 MS. GERSON: That's the plan, your Honor.

21 THE COURT: I don't think they knew how many experts
22 you were going to do. Why do you need nine non-site-specific 23 and 26 site-specific? How many sites are we talking about?
24 And why do there have to be different experts for all of these 25 sites? Even if there are 26 sites, why do there have to be 26

E3j2mtbc1

1 different people?

2 MS. GERSON: Your Honor, the retained experts, first
3 of all, plaintiffs have not provided us with any detail about 4 who they are complaining about. This issue was not in the 5 letter. They have had our designations of retained experts
6 since August for non-site specific, December for site specific,
7 and they haven't raised this issue before today.

8 And in terms of the numbers, this is right in line
9 with the experts in New Jersey.

10 THE COURT: Right in line with what?

11 MS. GERSON: The number of retained experts by 12 defendants in New Jersey. So the numbers are --

13 THE COURT: I don't think activity in one case creates
14 a waiver in another case. Either it is correct to have this 15 many or it isn't, period.

16 MS. GERSON: And some --

17 THE COURT: Why do you need 26 different site-specific 18 experts? How many sites are we talking about.

19 MS. GERSON: There are ten sites, and not all of these 20 are hydrogeologists. There are site-specific issues in terms
21 of supply, and one thing that we, like in New Jersey, are 22 facing here are different defendants have different supply
23 experts to explain their stories that we believe is a 24 significant portion of the numbers.

25 As we mentioned in our letter, we do have a couple of

E3j2mtbc1

1 experts that we retained for Puerto Rico that we may not have
2 used in other cases, because they are dealing with a very
3 different region, and we believe they have specific Puerto Rico
4 knowledge that we can't get out of our traditional experts.

5 THE COURT: What I can say is neither the plaintiffs'
6 attorneys nor the court can opine without seeing the reports.
7 It may that be there is overlap and you should not be using 26
8 different people, or it may be that because it is defendant
9 specific, with different supplies, as you said, stories, etc., 10 maybe there is a need. But nobody can challenge it without 11 seeing it.

12 So I guess until April 7, when they are due, I guess
13 you would agree, Mr. Miller, there is nothing more I can say
14 about the 26 who you haven't seen.

15 MR. MILLER: I agree, your Honor. That's the problem
16 at the moment and potential duplication, which I can't really
17 address until I see the reports.

18 THE COURT: Right, but there really isn't a lot of 19 time between April 7 and May 30, especially if you knew these 20 numbers back in either August or December respectively. She 21 said you knew some in August and some in December, and here we 22 are in March. Why didn't you say there were 70 a long time
23 ago?

24 MR. MILLER: Because we had 35 that were not known and 25 expected in employees. So it is the combination of the two

E3j2mtbc1

1 that makes it more difficult.

2 THE COURT: So what you got notice of were the 3 (a) (2) (B) 's.

4 MR. MILLER: We got notice of retained experts.

5 THE COURT: Was that December or August? You
6 mentioned both dates, Ms. Gerson, I forgot which group is 7 which.

8 MS. GERSON: The retained experts the non-site
9 specific were disclosed last August. The retained site
10 specific experts were disclosed in December.

11 THE COURT: By December you knew there were 35
12 retained ones.

13 MR. MILLER: Yes.

14 THE COURT: And you didn't think that was too many.

15 MR. MILLER: No. We could get it done within the 16 schedule. But now the number is doubled.

17 THE COURT: I realize.

18 MR. MILLER: I am hopeful we will not need to take a 19 deposition in most of the current and former employees for 20 various reasons; but, until I see and talk to counsel, I won't 21 know for sure.

22 THE COURT: Right.

23 Well, I think we need to get a date on the calendar
24 very shortly after the 7th to handle this issue of the number 25 of experts. It really does sound very high. So I am going to

E3j2mtbc1

1 stop -- it is unusual -- and look at the calendar now, for how
2 soon after the 7th we can be ready to talk about this issue.
3 If the issue goes away, fine, you can cancel, but at least you
4 will be on the calendar.

5 Wednesday, April 16, at 4:30 or Thursday, April 17, at 6 4:30. It is the earliest date I can give you, because I figure
7 you need a week to review the reports. But early in the week
8 is the holiday, and I don't have any idea when Good Friday is.
9 So, anyhow, 16th or 17th at 4:30.

10 MR. MILLER: Either is acceptable to plaintiffs.

11 MR. RICCARDULLI: Same for defendants, your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Earlier the better, then.

13 (Pause)

14 THE COURT: So we will do it April 16 at 4:30. It
15 will be a special conference just to address expert issues in 16 the Puerto Rico case. It has to be at 4:30. I expect to be on 17 trial. That's done.

18 So we will go on with the agenda, which is the 19 arguments about relevant experts. The plaintiffs say there are 20 three issues on which there is no need for experts at all.
21 Those issues involve the question of the benefits of using MTBE
22 versus lead. The use of lead as an octane enhancer is one of 23 them, and the other is the benefits of using MTBE versus 24 ethanol, and the third has to do with the overall air quality
25 benefits of MTBE. There is one expert on each of these issues,

E3j2mtbc1

1 Mr. Austin, Mr. Hoekman, and Mr. Wilson.

2 Plaintiffs, as I say, said that all of these are
3 irrelevant. The defendants disagree as to all three
4 categories, so we should start with the question of lead and I
5 will go with the defendants' argument. Defendants say that the 6 reasons for the lead phased out in the introduction of MTBE as 7 an octane enhancer is relevant as to why MTBE was used in the 8 first place. Defendants argue they are entitled to explain why
9 they decided to use MTBE at all.

10 I should preface this and say also defendants say that 11 this is a serious issue that shouldn't be raised through letter
12 submissions, and it should be done as a full motion in limine
13 on the eve of trial. I understood Mr. Riccardulli to address
14 that point. But the reason why it is timely now and should not 15 be done as a motion in limine in either trial is because of the 16 issue of depositions. There are so many depositions to 17 schedule, that if I were to agree with the plaintiffs' argument
18 on any one of these three, that is one less deposition. I
19 would rather not leave it out until later in the game because 20 all the work has to get done now when time is precious.

21 So I actually thought we could discuss each of the 22 three, and it is the lead one that I thought was the easiest.
23 It is not a subject for expert testimony. If you want to 24 explain why you decided to use MTBE, call a fact witness. Call
25 somebody in the company. You don't hire an expert when there

E3j2mtbc1

1 is no issue to be decided by the jury. You are saying
2 essentially this is background information that you think a
3 jury should know. You think you should have a right to explain
4 to the jury why you decided to use MTBE, fine. But to hire an
5 expert? One expert breeds a competing expert, as if the jury
6 is going to be asked a question, and they are not. This is 7 background information that you say they should know and have a
8 right to know. So there are a lot of fact witnesses who know
9 that answer. I don't see why this is a matter for expert
10 testimony.

11 MR. RICCARDULLI: Yes, your Honor. Just two points,
12 one on the timing of the -- sort of the -- that this be briefed
13 more fully. If it is a question of timing, we are certainly 14 happy to do that now if that's what the court would want. But 15 we do think that if the court's considering striking one of 16 these experts, that this should be done on a fuller record.

17 THE COURT: Nobody needs extra work. This one seemed 18 easiest of the three. The other two may take me more time. I
19 may allow short submissions, but I thought the first one was 20 really obvious. You don't hire experts when it is matter of 21 fact in the company. Anybody from the company knows the 22 answer.

23 MR. RICCARDULLI: Yes, your Honor. The expert is 24 going to say and explain that when lead was phased out, the 25 industry was faced with having to replace lead and gasoline.

E3j2mtbc1

1 The expert was not retained to address that one piece. They do
2 go on to talk about the other benefits or the feasibility of 3 MTBE versus --

4 THE COURT: That may be overlapping with somebody
5 else. That's the problem with overlap. You may have an expert
6 already about, whatever you call it, the feasibility.

7 MR. RICCARDULLI: We don't, your Honor. One of the 8 experts was in -- you referenced them before, and you will 9 remember at least Mr. Austin who testified as to the air
10 quality benefits of MTBE in gasoline, he testified in the New 11 York City case, and you will remember -- you may recall that he 12 testified in the case.

13 THE COURT: The good luck for me is that I don't 14 remember hardly anything about it.

15 MR. RICCARDULLI: Mr. Wilson also was involved in that 16 prior case, your Honor, resumed on sort of the scope of his 17 testimony that deals with more of the regulatory framework
18 generally with gasoline, not as to just the phaseout of lead or 19 the benefits of lead versus MTBE. We are not arguing that lead
20 was a viable alternative.

21 THE COURT: That's my point. It is not an expert
22 issue.

23 MR. RICCARDULLI: Your Honor, I can look at that. I
24 would like to confer and go back and see if we can remove that 25 one piece, but these experts -- we don't have one expert

E3j2mtbc1

1 committed to that sole issue. If that's really what's driving
2 it here, that the lead phaseout and how we can explain that,
3 and if that resolves this, then I can certainly confer with my 4 group and see if we are willing to move past that.

5 THE COURT: Mr. Miller, do you want to be heard on 6 these three different subjects or do you think this is amenable
7 to further meeting and conferring? Because I guess
8 Mr. Riccardulli is arguing that some portion of these experts
9 is background in a sense that you could see what they did at 10 the City of New York trial, whether it was really any different 11 here; and if it was limited to those subjects, you may not have 12 an objection particularly, if it doesn't overlap some other
13 expert. And that's the point to read all nine of the non-site
14 specific expert reports that you have and be specific about 15 overlap. There should not be two people saying the same thing.
16 That should be obvious, Mr. Riccardulli. It's going to be a 17 long trial as it is. You do not need two people to say the 18 same thing. It's just confusing to the jury and annoying.

19 MR. MILLER: There is literally no dispute that the 20 jury has to hear about with respect to lead.

21 THE COURT: I covered that. I think Mr. Riccardulli
22 gets the idea, and he said, I will look at the report, I will 23 talk to my team, I will try to take out any portion that does 24 not relate to a disputed issue.

25 MR. MILLER: Frankly, your Honor, I think ethanol is

E3j2mtbc1

1 the same situation. I think that the defendants can, through
2 fact witness, give any background information they need to give 3 about ethanol.

4 THE COURT: Let's be specific about Hoekman. What's 5 Hoekman saying that we need an expert witness when, again, it
6 is not a subject for decision?

7 MR. RICCARDULLI: Yes, your Honor. Maybe this helps
8 frame it. Plaintiffs have a design defect claim in this case
9 that the defendants should not have used MTBE. One of 10 plaintiffs' own experts, Mr. Moreau, in his report talks about 11 the feasibility and the benefits that ethanol has over MTBE.
12 So --

13 THE COURT: Is Mr. Moreau going to give that testimony
14 at this trial.

15 MR. MILLER: I will be happy to strike it, your Honor.
16 It is not an issue unless the defendants are able to bring it
17 up. He would have nothing to say about ethanol unless it is in 18 response.

19 THE COURT: This is actually helpful. So if the 20 plaintiffs' expert is not going to say why ethanol was a 21 feasible alternative that should have been used in place of 22 MTBE, if that issue is not coming up, then let's get it out of 23 the case.

24 MR. RICCARDULLI: Not just Moreau. There are other
25 experts, like Mr. Fogg, one of plaintiffs' experts, who talks

E3j2mtbc1

1 about the environmental conditions versus the benefits of 2 ethanol over MTBE.

3 THE COURT: If ethanol is coming out of the case on 4 both sides, that's an advantage. It will make, God knows, a
5 four-month trial three months or something, which is good for 6 everybody. So maybe this is amenable to some talking, meeting
7 and conferring between the sides. I didn't know that you would 8 point out the plaintiffs are bringing up ethanol. I didn't 9 know Mr. Miller would say, I will take it out if they will take 10 it out. So if it is out of the case, it is out of the case.

11 MR. MILLER: If feasible alternative is an issue, our 12 feasible alternative isn't going to be ethanol. It is gasoline
13 without MTBE.

14 THE COURT: That's a different case.

15 MR. MILLER: I do not need to go into ethanol at all.

16 MR. RICCARDULLI: Then we do need to meet and confer,
17 your Honor? Because I don't think the expert reports reflect 18 that.

19 THE COURT: They don't know. That's the point.
20 That's why you called them irrelevant. But you didn't know his 21 position.

22 MR. RICCARDULLI: I did not.

23 THE COURT: So this one may solve itself, given the 24 statements you have made on the record today, Mr. Miller, by 25 talking directly with Mr. Riccardulli and/or his team.

E3j2mtbc1

1 MR. MILLER: I will. Thank you.

2 THE COURT: The third one is -- well, the third one is
3 what you just said.

4 MR. RICCARDULLI: Yes, your Honor, and the experts are 5 sort of --

6 THE COURT: Right. You are saying they didn't need to 7 do MTBE at all.

8 MR. MILLER: That's right.

9 THE COURT: The alternative is not to do it at all,
10 not to have any oxygenate. So that takes care of the third
11 topic of the relevancy, too. So you do need to talk.

12 MR. RICCARDULLI: We do need to talk.

13 THE COURT: Okay. Good. So that finished that.

14 We are up to the defendant's agenda items, of which 15 there are a lot.

16 But the first one has to do with Mr. Brown's 17 site-specific expert report which was served on January 24 and 18 the defendants have several objections to Mr. Brown's report.

19 Defendants say that Mr. Brown improperly included
20 damages for investigations at several nontrial sites in 21 connection with his opinion about a particular site. I don't 22 know how to say it, but Club de Leones, the defendants say that 23 the commonwealth should not be allowed to recover the cost of 24 investigating eight service stations that were not the subject
25 of discovery. In fact, of the eight, one was dismissed and

E3j2mtbc1

1 five were never identified as release sites and two were
2 identified but would presumably come up in a later phase.

3 Defendants then say that Brown refers to several non-
4 trial sites in connection with his opinion on the Manati and 5 Maysonet trial sites. Brown notes that 15 additional sites may 6 have had releases, and they weren't identified as trial sites.
7 There has been no discovery.

8 And finally defendants object to Brown's inclusion of 9 173 new wells that were not subject to discovery. Of these,
10 132 are outside plaintiffs' delineated areas and, they point
11 out that the court has already said that plaintiffs cannot now
12 expand the delineations. The remaining 41 are inside the 13 delineations, but defendants argued that they weren't 14 identified during discovery, and that the court had said that 15 if they weren't identified by, of all dates, July 1, 2011, only 16 two and a half years ago, then they would be excluded. So, in 17 sum, the defendants say all of this material should be 18 excluded.

19 Of course, the plaintiffs have respond in some detail
20 with respect to the Club de Leones. Well, they said they 21 designated that as a receptor trial site, but never disclosed
22 the sources, and that's what experts do, and Brown should be 23 entitled to analyze the eight stations that are the source of 24 the contamination into their receptor well, and that defendants
25 would have a chance to depose Brown about that.

E3j2mtbc1

1 With respect to the 173, the ones that were outside
2 the delineated areas, which is the 132, they apparently are 3 only mentioned in figures attached to the report and this 4 was -- we did something like this in New Jersey. I ruled in 5 New Jersey that Brown could discuss the wells, but only if a
6 defendant opened the door to that. Otherwise the figures could 7 not be shown to the jury unless the wells were removed. But 8 there is still a disagreement about the 41 that are within the 9 delineated areas.

10 So my thought on this, again, the defendants first say
11 that this should be subject to a motion in limine. And I
12 understand the point. Again, I don't know whether it is one of 13 timing or one of full briefing as opposed to the letter
14 briefing, but I can give you a tentative ruling and then see if 15 you think you still need to fully brief.

16 So it seems that Brown should be allowed to talk about 17 the eight stations that are the source of contamination into 18 the receptor well that has been identified, and that can be 19 explored at depositions, but I think the New Jersey procedure
20 should apply to the wells outside the delineated areas. But 21 with respect to the ones within the boundaries, I think those 22 should be fair game, but I don't know what we do about the fact 23 that they haven't been previously identified and what kind of 24 discovery that would entail now. But presumptively that's 25 where I would be coming out. I don't think the plaintiffs'

E3j2mtbc1

1 responded with respect to the Manati and Maysonet trial sites,
2 so I don't know whether those are still in dispute. If they
3 are in dispute, is it the same argument as it is with Club de
4 Leones, that they are the source of contamination into a
5 receptor. I don't know. So I need to get a little more
6 information with respect to Manati and Maysonet because I don't 7 think the plaintiffs responded.

8 Who wrote the plaintiffs' response letter?

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 MR. AXLINE: I did, your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Did you mention the 15 wells that are in
3 contention with respect to the Manati and Maysonet?

4 MR. AXLINE: We had an extensive meet and confer
5 before today's session, your Honor, and I think we've resolved
6 the issues with respect to those two wells.

7 THE COURT: Good.

8 MR. AXLINE: In fact, I think we've narrowed it down
9 to, and Ms. Gerson can confirm or deny this, but I think we 10 narrowed it down to the 11 wells that are within the delineated
11 area that are identified by Mr. Brown in his expert report that 12 were not previously discussed.

13 THE COURT: You are talking about Manati and Maysonet?

14 MR. AXLINE: No, no.

15 THE COURT: No. Altogether?

16 MR. AXLINE: Yes.

17 THE COURT: The 41 has become 11?

18 MR. AXLINE: Yes.

19 THE COURT: Oh, okay. So there won't be anything more
20 right at this stage of the case with respect to the 132 outside
21 the delineated area, unless defendants open the door.

22 MR. AXLINE: Yes. But there is a caveat. We're, with 23 respect to the Club De Leones site --

24 THE COURT: That's different. I'm talking about 25 the -- of the 173 that are not Club De Leones and not Manati or

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 Maysonet, 132 of those are outside the delineated areas. They
2 won't come up unless the defendants open the door.

3 MR. AXLINE: Yes. But there may be two wells that are 4 a little different. We're still discussing.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. AXLINE: But, so --

7 THE COURT: But otherwise correct about 132.

8 MR. AXLINE: Correct?

9 THE COURT: Now with the 41 that are in the delineated
10 areas, the number in play has been reduced to 11.

11 MR. AXLINE: Yes, it has.

12 THE COURT: So the other 30 are not -- there is not 13 going to be evidence of that in this phase of the case.

14 MR. AXLINE: Well, I think the defendants are 15 withdrawing their objections to those.

16 THE COURT: The other way around, the 30 are going to 17 be in the --

18 MS. GERSON: Your Honor, can I? I want to like to 19 clarify. In plaintiff's letter, just briefly going back to the 20 132, plaintiff's letter said it's only on the graphics.

21 THE COURT: Yes.

22 MS. GERSON: We discussed ahead of time, they're both
23 on the graphics and in the report, and we'll discuss the ones
24 amongst ourselves how to strike those. We're in agreement.

25 THE COURT: Right.

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 MS. GERSON: On the 41 that are inside, plaintiffs
2 represented that 30 of those, Mr. Brown is not alleging are
3 threatened or impacted. He's only mentioning them to, so to 4 speak, the lay of the land and we'll accept that 5 representation.

6 THE COURT: Right, okay.

7 MS. GERSON: So that does leave 11 that he's now
8 alleging for the first time are potentially impacted or 9 threatened that were not disclosed to us in discovery. And,
10 indeed, a couple of those, for example, my client took a
11 30(b)(6) of the Commonwealth regarding an Esso service station.
12 A couple of the wells of those 11 were identified in advance of 13 that deposition. We said, well, this is new information.
14 Their 30(b)(6) witness specifically said on the record, I was 15 just giving those to you again a lay of the land disclosure.
16 These are not -- these were not disclosed as threatened or 17 impacted. That was in November of their 30(b)(6) witness.

18 Now we have Mr. Brown coming back in January and 19 saying they are. So these 11 wells we do feel that we've been 20 prejudiced not being able to pursue discovery on them, now they 21 have an expert saying that --

22 THE COURT: What does the expert say about these 11?
23 Is he saying they're threatened or impacted, Mr. Axline?

24 MR. AXLINE: Yes, yes.

25 THE COURT: Isn't he two and a half years late in

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 saying that?

2 MR. AXLINE: No. He said that in his expert report.

3 And I need to correct something Mr. Gerson said, which 4 is that these wells were not disclosed in discovery. They have 5 had the data that has these wells in it for years. It just 6 hasn't been analyzed by an expert until Mr. Brown completed his 7 report, and --

8 THE COURT: Well, what was it I required to be 9 identified by July 1st, 2011?

10 MR. AXLINE: Those were PROSA(phonetic) wells, your 11 Honor, island wide where the defendants were complaining we 12 hadn't given them exact coordinates for the wells, and you
13 ordered us to do that by a date certain, and we did that.

14 But there was no discussion of, you know, other wells.
15 And there are lots of other types of wells that are within the 16 delineated areas.

17 We didn't have our consulting experts do anything more
18 than try to identify geographic limitations for the experts to 19 analyze when they prepared their reports. And you said on the 20 record, and I think this was right, that anything within those 21 delineated areas is fair game for the experts.

22 Now, Mr. Brown has now done his analysis and he's 23 identified 11 other wells that are impacted or potentially 24 impacted by the releases that the defendants have known about,
25 and they've known about the wells. They just didn't know that

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 Mr. Brown was going to include --

2 THE COURT: One more question. Besides those 11, how
3 many turn up at Manati Maysonet and how many turn up in Club De
4 Leones; in other words, what's the total number of wells that 5 they say they've had no discovery on, and are now going to be 6 in play? So I just want to add the numbers. So 11, and then
7 what about the Manati and Maysonet, how many is that?

8 MR. AXLINE: Those 11 are not involved in Manati or 9 Maysonet.

10 THE COURT: I figured it out. So I want to know what 11 the total number of new wells are.

13 THE COURT: How many?

14 MS. GERSON: I think we're mixing up issues. I think 15 we're mixing issues. The 11 are wells. The Manati and 16 Maysonet are dealing with service stations. They're not --

17 THE COURT: Oh, there's no wells in play there.

18 MS. GERSON: That was not the issue with those.

19 THE COURT: And Club De Leones? That's eight wells, 20 isn't it?

21 MR. MILLER: No, it's not, your Honor. There's a
22 single well --

23 THE COURT: There was a single receptor, I thought.

24 MR. MILLER: They identified nearby release sites for 25 service stations.

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 THE COURT: They're also service stations.

2 MR. MILLER: Yes.

3 THE COURT: Okay. So wells that are so-called new are 4 11.

6 MR. MILLER: Yes.

7 THE COURT: Okay. But do we have a dispute or not a
8 dispute about the service stations then at Club De Leones,
9 Manati and Maysonet; is there a dispute?

10 MR. AXLINE: I think we're going to be able to resolve
11 the Club De Leones issue the next several days.

12 THE COURT: And how about the others?

13 MR. AXLINE: And we have no dispute for any, at least 14 I don't think we do, with respect to Manati or Maysonet.

15 THE COURT: So this whole --

16 MR. MILLER: Your Honor, I just want to -- we -- I'm 17 sorry. We met and conferred this morning about the Club De
18 Leones site. We may reach agreement on a solution to that 19 problem. And I guess we agreed we might know by Monday. If 20 that doesn't resolve itself, though, if that site is -- if we 21 don't agree on how to treat that site, there will still be a 22 discovery dispute as to the eight service stations that are 23 linked to that site. We think we may be able to avoid this,
24 but --

25 THE COURT: Right.

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 MR. MILLER: -- if we can't reach agreement, then we
2 do have a dispute as to those eight sites.

3 THE COURT: Okay. So --

4 MR. MILLER: I just want to be clear.

5 THE COURT: -- with respect to those eight sites, if 6 you don't reach a resolution, I'm going to refer that directly
7 to the special master, given I'm starting a ten week trial or 8 something horrible like that. So go straight to him. If you
9 have that discovery dispute, take it there and see if you can 10 work it out there.

11 MR. MILLER: Understood.

12 THE COURT: Okay.

13 Now, with respect to the 11 wells within the 14 delineated area, my instinct is to allow that in on the theory
15 of what Mr. Axline argued, but I was there before he said it;
16 namely, that you knew, you know -- you knew about the existence
17 of these wells, there is no way you could know the expert's
18 opinion until he did his expert work. So it was always going 19 to be anticipated some of the wells were identified might in 20 fact, once examined by an expert, turn out to be either
21 impacted or threatened.

22 What discovery would this open up for these 11
23 locations if I left them in?

24 MS. GERSON: Well, your Honor --

25 THE COURT: In other words, if Brown was allowed to

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 testify about it and they're part of the case, what would you
2 say happens then?

3 MS. GERSON: Yeah, I think first of all in terms
4 whether we knew about them, we asked very specific discovery
5 requests, very specific, what are the wells allegedly 6 threatened or impacted, and these were not disclosed. It was,
7 not never supplemented later on. Secondly --

8 THE COURT: It was always anticipated when the experts
9 did the analyses, you would learn who through the expert
10 analysis, it's sort of the final parameters of the opinion. If 11 it's only 11 within the delineated area, that's good news.

12 The dispute started out with 173. We're down to 11.
13 So my question to you is what would you have to do to not be
14 prejudiced in terms of discovery with respect to these 11
15 sites? Is it just a matter of -- not sites, but wells -- is it
16 just a matter of receiving reports of testing that was done at 17 those 11 places, any history of testing about what was found,
18 what would you need to discover?

19 MS. GERSON: Your Honor, we can certainly confer with 20 our experts. Off the top of my head I think that certainly 21 testing data, basically documents in their possession, but 22 testing data, we don't have the well depth. So, for example, I
23 don't know if it's drawing water from shallow or deep.

24 THE COURT: But they could get that to you very fast I
25 think or they better be able to get it very fast, or they can't

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 do this, but go ahead.

2 MS. GERSON: Well, depth screen, screen level, pumping
3 rates, historic pumping rates. I think we'd have to confer
4 with our experts, but -- and if I could confer with Mr.
5 Riccardulli?

6 Your Honor, one of the issues goes back to what I
7 mentioned, which was when we took the 30(b)(6) deposition,
8 these were -- a couple of these we were told they're not 9 threatened, and now we're being told that they are. I think we 10 need at least a deposition of a 30(b)(6) to explain to us the 11 EQB --

12 THE COURT: The what?

13 MS. GERSON: I'm sorry, the Environmental Quality
14 board's position as to why they did not investigate these 15 wells, require action at these wells, but for leaving it to 16 there expert to now raise an opinion.

17 THE COURT: I'd like to know Mr. Axline's answer to 18 that now somewhat. Why?

19 MR. AXLINE: First, let me say, your Honor, that when 20 we responded to the discovery request from the defendants,
21 every one of those had a caveat that this is subject to expert
22 reports which are going to be coming. So it's not like -- the 23 reason you have an expert is to address things that the EQB
24 doesn't have the time or the resources to address on its own.
25 So the EQB has the information that it has, it did what it

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 could with that information, and now retained an expert for the 2 case to do what experts do, which is look at it closely.

3 And I don't think there's anything that the defendants
4 don't have that Mr. Brown had. I don't think Mr. Brown has 5 anything the defendants don't have. We produced all the 6 information that he relied on to reach his opinion.

7 THE COURT: Well, do you have any testing data? They 8 say they don't know the depth of the wells, they don't know the 9 screen, they don't know --

10 MS. GERSON: Pumping.

11 THE COURT: Yes.

12 MR. AXLINE: If there is information that Mr. Brown
13 has that hasn't been given to them, they're welcome to ask
14 specific questions, what about this --

15 THE COURT: Let's not wait for that. Why don't you
16 ask him what data he has with respect to each of the 11, put it
17 together in packets and send it off.

18 MR. AXLINE: I think we've already provided that, but 19 I'll double check that. And they're going to be able to depose
20 Mr. Brown.

21 THE COURT: I know, but -- that's very nice, but it's 22 good to be ready to depose people by having information in 23 front of you. So if you have testing data, as I said, the 24 other topics she mentioned, it should be produced immediately.

25 MR. AXLINE: I'll make sure that they have every piece

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 of information Mr. Brown has with respect to those wells, as 2 well as everything else in his report.

3 MS. GERSON: Your Honor?

4 THE COURT: Well, by when, by a week from today?

5 MR. AXLINE: By a week from today, yes.

6 THE COURT: By a week from today.

7 MS. GERSON: Your Honor, I think it would be --

8 THE COURT: Which would be March 26.

9 Yes.

10 MS. GERSON: It would be the -- it would be everything --
11 I mean, we would also want what the plaintiffs have on these 12 wells.

13 THE COURT: Fair enough. And then we can revisit
14 after you get that, after you've had a chance to consult with 15 your expert. Because you did say that a couple of times in 16 your -- last times you spoke, you said we need to talk to our 17 experts and see what they would need. So you'll have a chance
18 to do that. And we can talk about this also again very 19 promptly. If you receive this data, we know we're down to 11,
20 and if you consult with your experts, you can come back. We 21 would do a shorter time frame than the other issue we just set 22 a date for. We can I think hear you about this in ten days, if 23 need be.

24 So you're going, Mr. Axline is going to make sure you
25 have all data that he has by the 26th of March. You need to

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 talk to your experts. So I'm thinking April 1st or 2nd if I
2 have to talk about this issue. Give me one minute to just 3 check the calendar on this trial. I could see you the 4 afternoon of April 1st, say 3:00 o'clock, if we have to talk
5 about this issue further. Shall I calendar that just in case?

6 MS. GERSON: Thank you, your Honor.

7 THE COURT: It doesn't hurt. We can always take it
8 off. It's just a computer entry. So 3:00 o'clock.

9 MS. GERSON: By telephone, your Honor, or in person?

10 THE COURT: Well, they have to come from California so
11 I guess telephone. So please get the issue down so this would 12 be the -- I'll call it delineation new 11 wells. That's a 13 pretty good description. 3:00 p.m. if needed. I'll note
14 telephone.

15 But by then there are two things that have to happen
16 Mr. Axline. One week from today make sure they have all the 17 data you have, and then, Ms. Gerson, be sure you've had a
18 conversation with your experts as to what they would need. All 19 right.

20 Now, we can move on. Yes, that finishes that agenda
21 item.

22 Okay, the next agenda item is defendants' request for 23 an order on authentication of documents.

24 MR. RICCARDULLI: Your Honor?

25 THE COURT: You resolved it?

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 MR. RICCARDULLI: Almost, but I think we're going to
2 resolve it. We met and conferred this morning. We went
3 through a red line draft. I think we'll be able to present you
4 with a joint submission later this week.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. MILLER: I agree, your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Okay. I'm happy to skip that one and move
8 to the third topic, which we had called plaintiff's failure to 9 produce certain expert reliance material.

10 MS. GERSON: Your Honor, I think that's Mr. Axline --
11 sorry.

12 MR. RICCARDULLI: I think you skipped number three,
13 your Honor, on the agenda.

14 THE COURT: I thought that was number three.

15 MR. RICCARDULLI: We have it as four. There is one --

16 THE COURT: Okay, just a minute. Let me look back and 17 see. Oh, plaintiff's failure to identify theories of 18 liability, is that what you want to do?

19 MR. RICCARDULLI: Yes, your Honor. And again I just 20 want -- we met and conferred this morning. I think we've 21 reached an agreement and this was sort of the conversation we 22 have to have for the Club De Leones site, the one site we 23 talked about earlier. Plaintiffs have now confirmed for us
24 that they are not going to rely on the commingled product
25 theory of liability.

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 THE COURT: At all?

2 MR. RICCARDULLI: At any of the trial sites, except
3 for the De Leones site, and we're talking about how to handle
4 that one site now that it has a different causation theory, but 5 otherwise I think that that resolves this issue.

6 MR. MILLER: Your Honor, that is correct, except we 7 reserve the right, if there is a later trial state-wide claim,
8 that we may have different theories. But with respect to these 9 cases, these focus sites, that is the case.

10 THE COURT: Okay. So that takes us to plaintiff's
11 failure, alleged failure to produce certain expert reliance
12 materials.

13 MS. GERSON: And, your Honor, I think we're in good
14 shape on that. Mr. Axline -- there was a couple of additional 15 items he has committed to get us by Friday.

16 We did just want to -- we raised it initially because 17 if we do have further issues, we didn't want it to be the first 18 time you're hearing about, but for today I think we're good.

19 THE COURT: Okay. That takes us to a schedule for 20 summary judgment, premotion letters and/or hearing.

21 What summary judgment motions are being considered and 22 by whom? You are Ms. Roy?

23 MS. ROY: Yes, your Honor. I've been coordinating for 24 the joint defense group on this.

25 There are about five motions that would be relevant to

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 all the defendants, and then a handful of defendants' specific 2 motions.

3 But, your Honor, I actually think that the station
4 matrix issue for the remaining claims at issue in the case is
5 something that we should address first. That really governs
6 how many motions there are going to be. If we can resolve some 7 of the issues related to which defendants are being targeted
8 and which stations, it hopefully will make some of the motions
9 go away or at least be substantially shorter.

10 THE COURT: So you're just saying go to issue six 11 before five.

12 MS. ROY: Yes, your Honor.

13 THE COURT: All right. Issue six, the defendants ask 14 the plaintiffs to clarify which defendants are at issue for 15 each station, and this is of course OCW -- whoops. We switched 16 to OCDWD when we talked about summary judgment. I should have 17 said that. We're not in Puerto Rico any more. We're in Orange
18 County, okay. So let's go back to Orange County with respect
19 to which defendants are at issue of each station. Currently 20 Orange County has claims at 34 stations, is that right; is that 21 you, Mr. Miller?

22 MR. MILLER: Yes, your Honor.

23 THE COURT: And in the spring of 2013, plaintiffs did
24 provide defendants with a station matrix identifying the claims
25 that plaintiffs were pursuing against each defendant and each

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 station. But defendants say that the matrix dramatically
2 expanded the number of defendants allegedly responsible at each
3 station. So they want an order limiting plaintiffs to pursuing
4 claims only against the defendants at the sites previously
5 disclosed.

6 So I don't think I understand. Ms. Roy, is this your 7 issue?

8 MS. ROY: Yes, your Honor.

9 THE COURT: So are you saying that in the spring of 10 2013 when the matrix came and with the dramatic expansion, you
11 want me to go back before the spring of 2013, even though
12 you're not raising this till the spring of 2014?

13 MS. ROY: Well, in terms of that delay I'll address
14 that part first.

15 Defendants have been sending meet and confer letters
16 for the last year to Mr. Miller's office trying to get some 17 resolution and narrowing the station matrix down to the 18 stations that should be targeted, or at least to the ones that 19 were disclosed during discovery. We have not been able to make 20 progress.

21 THE COURT: But it's been a year. Spring, they tell
22 me, you never know from the weather, but they tell me it starts
23 Saturday. So it's a year that you've had this matrix that,
24 quote, dramatically expanded. Why haven't I heard about this 25 for a year?

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 MS. ROY: Your Honor, I can understand. We've been
2 frustrated too. We've been trying to work with them. We
3 continually get told we're going to get back to you, we're 4 about to send you letters with information.

5 We, of course, were wrapping up the Fresno and RDA
6 matters which those opinions are actually quite helpful in 7 terms of focusing the issues for Orange County. So it did not 8 make sense to really report the issue in front of you until 9 now. But our hope is that -- I had conversations with 10 Mr. Axline and Mr. Miller in the hallway that they are working 11 to try to narrow that list, and I'm hopeful that we can get to 12 a place where we know that the actual defendants that are 13 targeted at each station.

14 THE COURT: Well, so you asked me to turn to six
15 before I turn to five, but then you're telling me you're not 16 ready for me to turn to six because you're hoping to talk to 17 each other.

18 MS. ROY: Well, frankly, your Honor, I'll take an 19 order from you or agreement from them to narrow the station
20 matrix, whichever way --

21 THE COURT: Well, an order for me that says you're 22 directed to narrow is not a very meaningful order. It could be 23 dropping one defendant at one site and then saying, okay, you
24 told me to narrow, I cut it back by one. That's not a helpful
25 order. It has to be specific. And that's what you're

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 negotiating. I couldn't do anything more than that today,
2 because, A, you're still negotiating after a whole year, and,
3 B, it's a meaningless order to say narrow because, as I said,
4 34 to 33 isn't narrowing, but doesn't do much. So I don't know
5 what I can do today, but I hate to put this one off. And yet
6 everything on the agenda you say we're meeting in the hall, we 7 met this morning. Good thing I have these conferences because 8 apparently it gets you talking. But I can't do anything with 9 the time.

10 MS. ROY: Your Honor, I think there is a proposal that 11 should hopefully move this forward. Mr. Axline volunteered to 12 have an in person meet and confer with the defendants in the 13 next two weeks to narrow down the, hopefully narrow down the 14 list with the --

15 THE COURT: So when should I schedule the follow up on 16 this one?

17 MS. ROY: Your Honor, if I could make a proposed 18 schedule. What we would do is within the next two weeks we 19 have in person meet and confer. Within two weeks of that date
20 plaintiffs would be directed to submit a revised station
21 matrix.

22 THE COURT: Directed by whom?

23 MS. ROY: By you, or by agreement, however they want
24 to work it out.

25 THE COURT: Go ahead.

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 MS. ROY: And then after that, we can set a
2 preconference hearing or premotion hearing for perhaps mid to 3 late May for the first round of summary judgments, and we can 4 work out a briefing schedule.

5 THE COURT: I would never really work on the matrix
6 issue so-called, I would just talk about summary judgment.

7 MS. ROY: Well, there is one conceivable instance
8 where we would need your involvement. If we reach a station
9 matrix that in defendant's view is still overblown and exceeds 10 what was disclosed during discovery, then we would be back in 11 front of you with a motion that would be to specifically limit
12 the matrix to only that which was discovered or disclosed in a 13 timely fashion. So that's the only instance where I think we 14 would need to involve you.

15 THE COURT: What's the date I set earlier in this 16 conference for the in person?

17 MS. ROY: April 16.

18 THE COURT: Yes. Did I say 16th?

19 MS. ROY: That's what I wrote down.

20 THE COURT: That's four weeks, I mean that's the right
21 date. So we'll have to add this to that agenda. What was the 22 issue I thought I was going to do on the 16th? I think I wrote
23 it down. Let's see. April 16th, I wrote down expert issues in 24 Puerto Rico MTBE case. I will have to add, just to state now I
25 put down slash matrix issue in OCWD case, and that would be in

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 person. They're monthly flight, they must be doing well on
2 their miles, but we'll do it the same night. We'll start at 3 4:30. If we don't finish till 10:30, that's that. All right.
4 So that has been added. If you can't resolve the matrix issue
5 so-called, that's the date. But also happy to jump on the 6 phone earlier if after two weeks you see there is no progress
7 and you want an order maybe that they need to gave revised
8 matrix by X date. If you can't get that far in your own talks,
9 just ask for telephone conference by calling my clerk on this
10 case. You know who that is, right?

11 MS. ROY: Your Honor, would it be also possible to 12 schedule a further date out for the motion?

13 THE COURT: For the premotion conference.

14 MS. ROY: Sure.

15 THE COURT: No, I realize that. So that should be two 16 weeks after that. So two weeks from then would be April 30th
17 which is not a good day, but April 29th and May 1st are both 18 good dates. So Tuesday or Thursday of that week, April 29th or 19 May 1st, which do you like?

20 MR. AXLINE: Either is fine with the plaintiffs, your 21 Honor.

22 MS. ROY: Your Honor, would it be possible to push to 23 the following week?

24 THE COURT: No, I got to get done, that's why.
25 April 29th or May 1st, Tuesday or Thursday.

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 MS. ROY: We'll take May 1st.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Now, to do that properly, you know,
3 I need premotion letters explain the outline, the motions you
4 intend to make, why there has to be five different motions.
5 That's not my style. That's called burying the Judge with 6 motion practice so she can never decide the case and the case
7 could never go to trial. I don't like that. I like one motion
8 with several issues with page limits, we work it out. I don't 9 really don't want five separate motions. There have to be some 10 specific or defendants specific, that may be, I understand that 11 that's different, but I don't know the issues are yet. So try 12 to outline it. Obviously the three page single space limit in 13 most cases doesn't make sense here for outlining the issues.
14 So I would say ten double spaced pages is the maximum for the 15 premotion letter that describes all the motions the defense
16 wants to make, and a response letter of the same length. And 17 that should be enough letter writing. So ten double spaced,
18 ten double spaced. But you got to get it done in time for me
19 to read, which means it has to come in by Tuesday, the 29th, so
20 I'm ready to talk to you on Thursday, the 1st. If they're not 21 in, I can't read it, I can't have an intelligent conference.
22 And that's back to 4:30, because that endless trial if it's for 23 real, really going to be still on trial. So, again, it's a
24 4:30 on May 1st in person. I'll call that OCWD summary
25 judgment premotion conference.

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 MS. ROY: Your Honor, if I can clarify?

2 THE COURT: Yes.

3 MS. ROY: The April 29th deadline, is that for both
4 the original --

5 THE COURT: No, that would be -- the second letter has 6 to be in by then. So the first letter has to be in I think
7 five business days before that. Response letter by then, so I
8 have both letters in hand 48 hours before. Obviously the first
9 letter I will have had five more days to read, so you have a
10 small advantage that way. Okay.

11 So now we've covered for this purpose agenda item five 12 and six -- whoops -- six, and that's that. That's the whole
13 agenda, yes?

14 MR. WALSH: Your Honor, William Walsh. Just one item
15 that didn't make the agenda. I've discussed with 16 Mr. Riccardulli in advance. In the new MTBE cases,
17 specifically in the Brewster case, you had given a deadline
18 earlier this month for amendments to the complaint. Probably 19 literally hours after that one of the plaintiff's specifically
20 in the Brewster case advised us that it was dividing its 21 corporation and would have a name change. We'd like the 22 opportunity to yet again amend that complaint to reflect the 23 change in the plaintiff. And I've raised with defendants that.

24 THE COURT: That's no big deal. You don't object to 25 that, do you?

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 MR. RICCARDULLI: I don't think so, your Honor. I
2 normally just don't agree on behalf of the group without
3 letting them know, but I don't foresee a problem with that.
4 And I could certainly get Mr. Walsh a note by tomorrow that 5 let's him know.

6 THE COURT: Sure.

7 MR. WALSH: And I would expect we can do this within a
8 week or ten days once they finalize the new corporate name and 9 have everything in place.

10 THE COURT: Okay, good. No problem.

11 Anything else?

12 MR. WALSH: Thank you, your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Do we need an initial conference on -- how 14 many new cases are there, just one; is there more than one?

15 MR. CONDRON: Your Honor, Peter Condron. It's four 16 new cases with 11 plaintiffs.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Can they all be handled at one
18 conference together maybe to set a schedule?

19 MR. CONDRON: I think they probably could. It may be 20 a little bit premature right now to schedule a conference on 21 them.

22 THE COURT: Why?

23 MR. CONDRON: We're still having some preliminary
24 conversations with plaintiffs about a number of issues, and I
25 just want to go through some of those. We might be able to

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 obviate the need for a conference.

2 THE COURT: You can never obviate the need for a Rule
3 16 conference. I mean that's essentially what it is, it's an
4 initial scheduling conference with the Court where the Court
5 sets a schedule for discovery in the case. We do that in every 6 one of our 10,000 cases per year.

7 MR. CONDRON: We're having settlement discussions with
8 them.

9 THE COURT: Oh. All four may go away?

10 MR. CONDRON: Conceivably.

11 MR. RICCARDULLI: Yes, your Honor. And you did set a
12 CMO on those cases earlier this year I think that does layout
13 some discovery. We actually asked for a quick delay to that 14 schedule so we could have these conversations, and we're in 15 that phase right now. But there is a discovery schedule in 16 place. Certain requests have already been served. I think
17 we've gotten responses, so.

18 THE COURT: Well, it's our practice, I think, to set
19 an all case conference about once a month. Maybe we could skip
20 April because we have so many conferences scheduled now, I
21 don't know if it's two or three, but we did several, I think
22 three. I think I just set three different dates in April. So
23 I could jump to May, but then I want to have that conference, 24 Mr. Condron, wherever you're up to.

25 MR. CONDRON: Understood, your Honor. Thank you.

E3jzmtb2

Conference

1 THE COURT: Yes. All case conference for May. Again,
2 if nobody wants it, I'm sure it won't hurt my feelings. I'll
3 be willing to cancel. So I'll pick a date in May.

4 How about May 13th at 4:30? That's a Tuesday. Does
5 that sound okay?

6 MR. RICCARDULLI: That's fine, your Honor.

7 MR. WALSH: Fine, your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Okay, so that would be the equivalent of 9 the monthly all MTBE conference. 4:30, May 13th.

10 Okay, is there anything else?

11 MR. AXLINE: Not from plaintiffs.

12 THE COURT: All right, thank you.

13 MR. AXLINE: Thank you, your Honor.
